

Traffic noise from the busy street, 14th of November, resonates an ancient clay vessel, generating an overtone series. This harmonic resonance from the amphora, is sent to a solar powered “planet speaker” which beams the sound back into the architecture. The added real-time harmonic sound, played at conversational sound level was able to color the sound ambience of an area of two city blocks.